

2023 Person-Centered Mental Health Services Act would mandate the following:

- Local mental health services must be designed using a participatory planning process that includes peers, providers, and other community stakeholders.
- Local services plans must include priorities for specific, measurable, goals, with a budget, timeline, and strategy for implementation. The Office of Mental Health and local governments must negotiate a final plan and budget
- The state and localities will sign binding agreements that outline who is responsible for financing and implementing every program and service included in the plan.